I have promised to dine with my niece & nephew this afternoon - as they were last in Paris - The same reason applies for my not being able to accept your kind invitation to dinner -

I pray for you & believe that nothing could give me more pleasure than accepting your kind hospitality & having a good talk with me, in a coach, did - but I am forced to go back to London tomorrow morning early.

I will give myself the hope of seeing you and passing through Paris on my return to Rome in the autumn - Meanwhile with many thanks & kind regards to Mr. Byland

Believe me Sir

My faithful Servant
